Forward Ever, Backward Never

FRESHMAN:

It was a lovely September day in the year 1950, that 30 grass green-know it all freshmen stalked up the high school steps to take dear old B.V. by surprise. The seniors promptly cut us down to size with that grand institution, "initiation". That wasn't enough though; they balled us up with a maze of scheduled classes, and with teachers by the dozen.

Confucius say: Bob McLane was president; Jim Wagner, vice president; Darlene Sauer, secretary; LaDonna Bloch, treasurer. Darlene was a cheerleader. Nina and Janice made music with the band. Our athletic ability was proven by Merlyn, LeRoy, Ronn, Walt, Charlie, and Lloyd Howell playing basketball; Bob playing football; and Merlyn, LeRoy, Bob and Lenole out for track. Eleven of us sang in the Mixed Chorus; Darlene was our candidate for Homecoming Queen; and Bob and Germaine Roerig were our choice for Carnival King and Queen. Ardella Hansen and Clyde Williams quit during the year.

SOPHOMORE:

We were disappointed to start our sophomore year without Harlan Peterson, LaDonna Bloch, who transferred to Clitherall, Minn., and Betty Nickolauson, who transferred to Sisseton, So. Dak. The remainder of us started with high hopes with Ronald as president; Jerry as vice-president; Darlene as secretary-treasurer. Mr. Sidney Shelver guided our eager little minds through the year.

Our class activities consisted of making sophomore pep and a scavenger hunt sponsored by and for our class. Beverly, Janice and Joyce were in the one act plays. Darlene was again chosen cheerleader. Doris was our Homecoming Queen candidate and Janice and Jim represented us at the carnival. Three of us played in the band. The Mixed Chorus was enriched by nine of our golden voices. The same six boys again played basketball; Bob played football; and Merlyn went out for track. Our student council representatives were Nina and Joyce. Darleen Lureen, Dorothy Reed and Willis Reed quit during the year.

JUNIOR:

We triumphantly stepped into our junior year under the supervision of Mrs. Smith, our class advisor with Lenole, president; Beverly, vice-president; Joyce, secretary; and Lloyd, treasurer. We eagerly welcomed Harlyn Bartz and Dale Kaufman from Sisseton and Harry Donath from Wheaton. We started without Joan Nigg, who transferred to Sisseton, lost Lloyd to Wilmot and gave up Jim Wagner to the army. Eleven of us presented the comedy "Brother Goose" in April. Our class rings shone on our little hands soon after Christmas vacation. Beverly was our Homecoming Queen candidate, Joyce and Jerry our carnival candidates. Six boys again shone forth on the basketball team, and three proved themselves in football. Two of the cheerleaders, Darlene and Joyce, came from our class. Janice was chosen to represent us at Girls State with Joyce as alternate. The student council representatives were Nina, Jerry, and Jann. Joyce went to the regional speech tournament. Nine of us continued to enrich the Mixed Chorus. We climaxed our junior year by playing hosts at the Junior-Senior prom and banquet. The gym was lavishly decorated in an "Evening in Paris" theme.

SENIOR:

Our senior year was entered with mixed emotions. Some of us glad the grind was to be over and others a little sad at the thought of leaving. No losses were suffered but Barbara Haanen transferred from Beardsley to give us a grand total of 13 girls and 13 boys. Seven of us have gone to school here together all twelve years. We chose Joyce as our president; Jerry as vice-president; Joanne as secretary; and Janice as treasurer. Mr. Bambenek lead the way through the year. We started the freshmen on their merry way through high school by conducting a stimulating initiation.

Wally, LeRoy, Ronn, Charlie, and Merlyn played basketball for the fourth straight year. Bob, Wally, Harlyn and Duane stuck by the gridiron. Six of us sang in the Mixed Chorus. Janice was chosen Homecoming Queen in October. Darlene, Rodney, and Jerry (Pres.) represented us in student council. Darlene was chosen cheerleader for the fourth consecutive year. Wally and Beverly were carnival King and Queen. In April we put on another smash hit play, "A Little Honey", under the direction of Mr. Cates. May 7th, bright and early in the morning we took off on Skip Day. Destination: Duluth. Graduation was May 28th and Baccalaureate was May 23rd. Thus we passed an important milestone in our lives. We have come a long way since we first entered the hallowed halls of B.V. High School. It'll seem strange not to come back again next year but looking back I think we will all agree that our school days were truly "The best years of our lives".

PROPHECY

As I was glancing through an issue of my Hometown News which, incidently, is edited by the old Thunderbird Editor, Nina Duffield, an article about an old school mate of mine, Janice Hanson, caught my eye. Janice, so the story went, decided to seek fame and fortune by writing a book which was a guide to catching a man. Unfortunately one of the copies got into the hands of her current fiance and so upset him that "Gods Gift to Women" jilted her and fled to a cave where he's taken up the hermit's life. Now most of the other women have banded together and have indicted her for robbing them of good potential husband material.

Well, it seems that the class of 1954 is turning out to be quite famous - or infamous. Which is it? My curiosity about Janice and the rest of the class was thoroughly aroused by this time, so I decided to return to the Valley and look them all up.

Since I was planning on going back, I thought I'd better do it in style so I rushed down to the nearest automobile agency to look at the new models. The salesman, who turned out to be Dale Kaufman, showed me the newest atomic cruiser. "IT", he assured me, "is incredible, indivisible, inexplicable, indelible, inedible, and indestructable."

"Well", I gasped, "those are pretty big claims. What proof can you give me?"

"Gee", he said, "my wife, Joanne has been driving one for two months and it's still in one piece. How much more proof do you need?"

His sales talk convinced me so I walked over to select my model. I picked out a metallic gray one, which, Dale hastened to inform me, would immediately be installed with the "fearless" accessory. After noticing my quizical expression, he explained that with each car sold to a woman driver, they installed a fearless mechanism which automatically says, "So sorry!" every time she hits a pedestrian. That seemed like just the thing for me so I took the car.

As I sped towards the Valley I decided I needed a little diversion so after groping around among the maze of buttons, knobs and switches, I turned the radio on. The station it was tuned to was BLAB, located at B.V. The program was one of these Hints For the Harried Housewife which every station (and every prophecy) has. I was about to switch the thing off when the Helpful Housewife herself began to speak. I recognized her immediately as Marlys LeClair (pardon me - Marlys Ziemer). As I peeled my ear to the speaker, she began her program by telling us "Not to put that excess bacon fat down the drain - pour it on the floor. Your family will fall for this new and novel use. Also - if you are troubled with having your walls soiled with children's grimy fingerprints - avoid this - cut off their hands." I quickly switched the radio off as a sickening sensation formed in my throat. What a life poor Harry and the children must live if she takes herself seriously.

I was still worrying about that when I sped into the Valley. Though I cut my pile-energizer the moment I spotted the large crowd in front of the theater I was too slow and one of the group was soundly bumped by my bumper. As I skidded to a halt to inspect the damages to the car, the theater-owner rushed up, sputtering excitedly. "What do you mean, scaring my crowd away and messing up the pavement?" As soon as I calmed him down slightly, I recognized him as "Fishty" Rees. We agreed to call a lawyer to settle the affair and Fishty led me across the street to a brilliantly lighted bar where we could relax until the lawyer reported back. A gigantic neon sign professed that this was "Harlyn's". Fishty told me that through family connections Harlyn Bartz had taken over Luvern's shortly after graduation and naturally he had changed the name to Harlyn's. He now operated a chain of these bars all over the United States and also one in Beardsley.

As Fishty and I talked I found out that he was a big businessman too. He had gotten his start in the movie industry by persuading Joyce Vollmers to let him be her agent. As Marilyn Maroone, she had made millions for Fishty and herself. But she decided to retire, got married, and now she and her husband jointly own a duck farm, specializing in Teals (Thiels) naturally!

Fishty was excited now about his new discovery who was appearing at the theater today - which accounted for the large crowd. It seems Rees had interested another of his classmates in movies and Bob McLane was a smash success as "Four Flush Gordon, the Ace of Space". He is the current idol of millions of pre-institution age youngsters.

Just as Fishty finished telling me his fascinating success story, the lawyer came bounding up, telling us about the wonderful luck he had and my difficulities were all taken care of. As the lawyer finished his spiel, I recognized him as Ron Duehr. His excellent work on this case was quite an accomplishment for someone who couldn't spell his middle name before sixth grade. I asked him if most of his cases turned out this good. "Oh, no." In fact most of them wind up as mental cases!

Fishty had some bad news to tell me about Wally Hennen. He and Merlyn Saxton had enlisted in the Marines and quickly worked themselves up to important Pentagon jobs. One day Hennen left conference for a drink of water. It was supposed that he was lost in the maze and searching parties had scouted for him for fifteen years. Now there is a new lead - that he is the captive of a female Red spy somewhere in Lower-Slobovia. Merlyn is out on an important mission to secure Wally's freedom. My, I hope we haven't let such an eligible young man slip from our midst.

I suggested driving around to look over the old town so we jumped in my car and took off. The radio began emmitting some rather odd noises. Fishty proudly informed me that this was the cowboy singing sensation of the nation, Harry Donath, singing, "Put Down That Jukebox, Grandma, You're Too Old To Carry A Tune". I finally decided that he must be accompanied by his horse so that accounted for the awful racket.

I also learned that the composer of the tuneful tongue-twister was none other than Lenole Mundy. He got so sick of hearing Harry's rendition of "I'm Baaack In the Saaaddle Agaaain", that he wrote that new tune. He seems destined to be a success also if Harry doesn't murder too many of his songs before they have a fighting chance.

Next we passed a strange mausoleum of a house with a high fence around it. When I inquired about the occupants, Fishty told me that Barbara, Marie and Faye had taken up refuge there to escape men. Fishty told me they would be glad to see me. They were very hospitable and invited me to dinner. I was a bit dubious of their culinary skills but I tackled some of the food. I felt as if I had been tackled when I had a few mouthfuls so I asked what "it" was. "Oh", they smiled proudly, "we thought you'd get a kick out of our frog legs!" Not being used to such delicacies I quickly bade them goodbye and rushed off to seek medical aid.

After skidding to a halt in front of the nearest hospital and collapsing on the waiting room floor I was put in charge of the doctor present. Dr. Ingerson and his nurse, Beverly Ziemer, quickly went to work to locate the trouble. After they decided to amputate my brain to relieve the pain I told them to never mind because they probably wouldn't be able to locate it anyway and besides I was feeling a lot better and really should be going 'cause I had others to see and thanks anyway.

After that close shave, I thought I had better be more careful about my choice of eating places so I stopped at a restaurant which proclaimed, "Don't laugh at our coffee, you too may grow old and weak some day". I was about to splurge and order a nice thick steak when I saw that the propietors were Elsie and Sonja. Being thoroughly scared of those Seniors by now I declined to order and just passed the time of the day with them. They had had to enter business for themselves when they were suddenly left widows. When I asked the cause of their husbands death they said it was "something they et" and I was awfully glad I hadn't sampled any of their specialties. They asked me if I had heard that chummy radio program, "Breakfast with Darlene and LeRoy". I said no and asked when it came on. They said it wasn't broadcast till almost suppertime because it took Darlene that long to properly prepare herself to meet the public ear. They must be quite the celebrities so I made up my mind to visit the station.

As I approached my car I suddenly realized that someone must have mistaken it for a garbage can. I marched down to the city hall to have the Supt. of the Streetcleaners have something done about it. There behind a magnificent desk, sat Doris Spotts. I was amazed that she should have picked such a profession. "Oh, it was an accident", she assured me. "The man who originally ran for the office happened to pick "Keep Our City Spotless" for his slogan. It made me so mad that I up and beat him out of the job." Good old Doris hadn't changed a bit. She promised to have something done about my car and told me to go across the street to the radio station and talk to Jerry Nigg, the manager. He was very busy but he agreed to see me for a few minutes. He had been having a lot of headaches with his job and now Darlene had just gotten mad at LeRoy leaving the "Breakfast with Darlene and LeRoy" without Darlene. Oh well, you can't have everything! Just then a news report came in that Wally Hennen had been found and dragged back to civilization by Merlyn. Nina was giving a big welcome home party that night and we were all invited.

I picked up my car from the cleaners and located the beauty shop where I hoped to have my hair done for tonight. A very Frenchy atmosphere surrounded "Charlees" with the head beautician being Charlie Thomas himself. I asked his advice as to what to do to my hair. He was anxious to give me a beer shampoo. I asked if it would have any beneficial effects on my hair. "No", he admitted, "but you'll have the happiest dandruff in town!" I settled for a simple shampoo washing and setting and hurried off to the party. To top the party off, Janice came rushing in proclaiming that she and David had been reunited. He had been persuaded to come out of his cave when someone told him the damp cave air was poor for his complexion.

As I headed for home as soon as the party adjourned, I thought back over my experiences after deciding to come back to the Valley. I made up my mind to cancel my subscription to the Hometown News as soon as I got home. My curiosity was just too great - next time I might not get out of it alive!

LAST WILL

We, the Senior Class of 1954, being of sound mind and sounder body; do hereby declare this document to be our last will and testament:

ARTICLE I I, Bob McLane, will all my broken guard rails, hospital insurance, and the Chevie fenders I've wound around various telephone poles on the Sisseton hiway, to Glen Ewald on the condition he doesn't ruin my record at Pedestrian Polo.

ARTICLE II I, Marie Moeller, will my dislike of the opposite sex to Gene Nelson with the hope that Gene may someday find a happy medium.

ARTICLE III I, Walter Hennen, will my naturally curly hair to the Junior Girls. I just don't have the heart to let one person struggle with it. (Besides the price of bobby pins is going up.)

ARTICLE IV I, Faye Cardwell, will my ability to crack a joke without smiling to Jim Moeller with the sincere hope that Jim will not die laughing before receiving this bequest.

ARTICLE V I, Lenole Mundy, will my flashing red hair, girl killing smiles, and my bill at LuVerns to Jerry Hess on the condition he use them to their greatest advantage as I did.

ARTICLE VI I, Beverly Ziemer, will my ability to keep five guys on a string at once to Lois Piechowski and Helen King, as I have decided to settle down and concentrate on just two.

ARTICLE VII I, Jerry Nigg, will my know-how of 'teachers and what makes them tick' to Everett Randall knowing Everett will make good use of said knowledge.

ARTICLE VIII I, Janice Hanson, am willing my ability to talk without stopping to breathe to Marlys Lindsay knowing she won't let said ability lie around and get dusty.

ARTICLE IX We, Merlyn and LeRoy Saxton, will the gravel pit to Armin and Virgil Kaufman on the condition you don't spend too much time there.

ARTICLE X I, Marlys LeClair, will my brother Jim to Janet Schiefelbein. I refuse to will Harry to anyone, but Fritz is yours for the asking. I'll even pay delivery charges.

ARTICLE XI I, Charlie Thomas, will my height (what there is of it) to Wayne Westbrock so they won't have to knock out the doors in the school.

ARTICLE XII I, Joyce Vollmers, will my mastery at the wheel of 'Poor

Devil' to Harry Finley. You can have the curtains and remains of the upholstrey too, but the rope will have to stay to hold the back door on.
ARTICLE XIII I, Harlyn Bartz, will my ability to gripe to Arlen Schulz providing he find as many things to gripe about as often, loud and persistently as I did.
ARTICLE XIV I, Sonja Jacobsen, will my last name to Joyce Geidt. I plan on changing it in the near future any way.
ARTICLE XV I, Ronald Duehr, will my vast store of talent on the bass horn to Bill Lehrke, on the condition he take my collection of jokes in Eight Short Volumes.
ARTICLE XVI I, Barbara Haanen, having been here only one year feel I should keep everything I have acquired!
ARTICLE XVII I, Harry Donath, will my big feet to any underclassmen who need a good understanding.
ARTICLE XVIII I, JoAnne Schwagerl, will my quiet, blushing personality to Ronnie Anderson with the hope that it will not degrade his present state of mind in any way.
ARTICLE XIX I, Rodney Ingerson, am renting my slightly(?) used(??) cowboy boots to Gerald Hein for a short time (for a nominal fee, of course) so he can be a big man too. This does not include polish, polishing cloths, shoe wax, or elbow grease.
ARTICLE XX I, Elsie Biel, will my 'Crazy Mixed Up' earrings to Irene Hansen with the hope that she won't get stoop shouldered from them.
ARTICLE XXI I, Dale Kaufman, will my diggy little 'automobile' (I use the word with reserve) to Dennis Johnson. Oh well--you can always sell it for scrap.
ARTICLE XXII I, Darlene Sauer, will my ability to go steady for two years with just one guy to Geraldine Hein who already has a good start.
ARTICLE XXIII I, Nina Duffield, will my ability to bat my eyelashes to Cleon Anderson knowing he will forever be grateful.
ARTICLE XXIV I, Doris Spotts, will my ambition to the laziest member of the junior class. If it is combined with my ambition the result should be normal activity.
ARTICLE XXV I, Duane Rees, last as usual, will my habitual tardiness to Ronald Witte. May you become as friendly with Mr. Bambenek as I did.
ARTICLE XXVI To the janitors we leave what's left of the building, the 'gum-erized' desk bottoms, and the memory of our incessant demands ringing in their ears.
ARTICLE XXVII And least but not last to the teachers we just leave.
ARTICLE XXVIII To the lucky sophomores and freshmen we leave our richest treasures. Our quiet dignity, good looks, excellent wit, good looks, charming personalities, good looks, and favor with the teachers. Especially to the sophomores we bequeath our broad minds by which you can try and endure the Seniors next year.

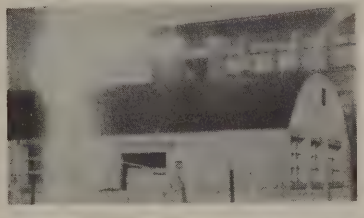
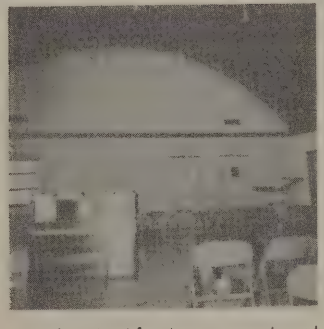
BAND ROOM





The new band room was a project that was started on last fall. This spring, it was open for business. The interior of the main part is a light cocoa color on one wall, green on another, and a contrasting yellow on the other two. In the three rooms in the back, they have the following color schemes. The first practice room, (door to the right), two walls are painted a pale green, and two a dusty rose. The second practice room, (center), doubles for a heating room. The room farthest to the left is the directors office. This room is decorated in two different shades of grey, with a strip of blue running along the mop-board of one wall. In the center of the band room stands our pride and joy, the new Hamilton piano, made by the famous Baldwin Piano Company.

The Browns Valley High School Band, under the direction of Richard Stoyke, presented three concerts during the school year. They played for two exchange concerts, one with Graceville, another with Wheaton. The band has increased noticably in number--having twenty-seven members in 1950, it now has fifty--and is still growing. Congratulations---keep up the good work.

JUNIOR OCTETTE

SEATED: Janet Schiefelbein, Helen King.
STANDING: Wayne Westbrock, Gene Nelson, Bill Lehrke, Marlys Lindsay, Geraldine Hein, Everett Randall.

The Junior Octette sang at different occasions this year. Their main specialty was, however, the District contest at Breckenridge, Minnesota. This group under the direction of Mr. Stoyke started singing together as Sophomores, but did not make any public appearances until this year. We hope to see them together as a group again next year.

FIRST ROW: Rosalie Grosenick, Thalia Duffield, Joyce Geidt, Dorothy Plant.
SECOND ROW: Patty Duffield, Helen King, Karen Roske, Bill Lehrke, Bonnie Burleson, Bill Randall, Wendy Duffield, Duane Labs.

The High School Dance Band under the direction of Mr. Stoyke has become one of the most popular music 'notes' around. They have played for such occasions as Band Benefits, Homecoming, and Social Hours. There's no need to say how good they are--the returns from these dances prove it.
